A Resume-Now serves as a digital representation of an individual's professional journey, allowing users to create, customize, and share their resumes easily and efficiently.

PROBLEM STATEMENT

In the evolving job market, job seekers face significant challenges when it comes to creating effective and professional resumes. Traditional methods of resume preparation often result in several issues:

1. Complexity and Time Consumption: Many individuals struggle with formatting and structuring their resumes. This can lead to frustration and a significant investment of time, detracting from other essential job search activities.
2. Lack of Customization: Existing resume templates may not cater to diverse industries or personal branding needs, limiting users' ability to present their skills and experiences uniquely.
3. Static Formats: Traditional resumes are often static documents that require reformatting for each application. This can result in outdated information being submitted or inconsistencies across different versions.
4. Accessibility Issues: Users may not have easy access to design tools or software needed to create professional resumes, especially those who are less tech-savvy.
5. Limited Sharing Options: Many job seekers find it cumbersome to share their resumes with potential employers, often relying on email attachments or physical copies, which may not be as effective or visually appealing.
